

Seating plan (attached)

The plan is attached. Please can we aim to make sure there are no empty seats on stage once everyone's seated? There was one for the Boulanger and it didn't look great. Also, be prepared to move if people have dropped out due to illness at the last minute. Please sit according to voice part with taller folk further back and/or on the outside edges. There will be a few available on the day but please print your own if you can. It's also on the Chorus website at Members Area / Concert Arrangements

Concert arrangements and running order (two attachments)

These were sent with the last update but are attached again, along with the running order. Also on the Chorus website at Members Area / Concert Arrangements

Live stream information

It looks like the livestream on Saturday will only be available to World of Brass subscription holders. However, it also looks like it will be available some time later (might be some considerable time later) as a video for purchase. See their website at <https://www.worldofbrass.com/>

"John Rutter Brass at Christmas" CD

Our joint CD has been named by David Mellor as his Christmas album of the year. Also read glowing reviews on Brass Band World, 4barsrest, Music Web International and Gramophone.

Anne Adams' son Jack will be selling 100 of the CDs for £10 to audience members in the foyer on Saturday, small profit to Chorus funds. Please buy yours AFTER the concert, to give audience members the opportunity to buy theirs. You can also get copies online for around £10 at Brass at Christmas CD Presto music, or on Europadisc.

Message from Anne Adams

"Many thanks to everyone for the hearty rendering of Happy Birthday on Tuesday, and for the wonderful flowers. Very naughty to break our rules like this (my birthday was the following day, not Tuesday) but much appreciated. Thank you also for the flowers the Chorus sent following the death of my Mum a couple of weeks ago, which are still going strong - and for the nice messages choir friends have sent. Best wishes Anne"
